Are You Ready to Write?

Join a vibrant community of like-minded individuals who can motivate and support you through the ups and downs of your writing and publishing journey.

Peggy Edwards had a dream—and in 2013, she made it a reality by founding the Village Publishing Club. Frustrated with the high costs of vanity presses and unable to achieve her vision through the Village Writer's Club, Peggy took matters into her own hands. She rallied 25 Village writers, gathered their signatures, and proposed the idea of a publishing club to the Village. The result? A resounding endorsement and the birth of a new community for aspiring authors.
